

NO EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS SEEKS POSSIBLE

RECOUNT OF IOWA'S VOTE SEEMS SURE

It is Possible Senate of
U. S. May Have to Decide Issue

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 7—Whiffie Daniel Streck had not definitely announced at noon today he would challenge Senator Brookhart's majority which unofficially stands at 1,116, Clyde L. Herring, democratic national chairman, said a recount of the ballots would be requested and all precautions necessary to an accurate review of the election by the senate should be taken.

Major Gen. J. G. Harbord, president of the Radio Corporation of America; Helen Keller and Harold Bolster, director of the exposition, were photographed by the unseen radio photographer who was stationed in Carnarvon Wales.

LEGION FACING HARDEST FIGHT OF THE SEASON

Dubuque Bears Coming to Clean Up Riddle and His Men.

Senator is Confident.

"My information from nearly all parts of the state," said the senator, "is that my majority will increase when the canvass is made. I think it will be a good deal bigger than the nominal returns indicate."

The latitude of the senate in recounts matters and the possibility that that body might not be bound to follow the letter of the Iowa election laws afforded ground for much speculation among Iowa politicians. Some hold the opinion that numerous ballots thrown out because of identification marks might be accepted by the senate on the grounds that the intention of the voter was clear, despite failure to strictly comply with the date law.

The ballots in question were thought to be republican votes except for a few for the democratic candidate for the senate. To clearly set out this "scratches" hundreds of voters drew an arrow on the ballot pointing to the "X" opposite Steck's name.

Iowa Court's Ruling

The Iowa supreme court has ruled that any mark on the ballot placed outside the prescribed circle or square except by apparent accident, invalidates the ballot.

Attorney General Gibbons said today he was not sure the senate could accept these ballots which have been ruled out in the state count. They are to be preserved and sent to Washington along with the accepted ballots of the re-count is demanded.

The exact number of these ballots is not known. Estimates have placed the number all the way from several hundred to more than a thousand, as possibly enough to affect the results, should the unofficial returns prove approximately correct. The belief that there was a large number of these ballots was based on the fact that republican newspapers all over the state published sample ballots carrying arrows pointing to Steck's name and that voters generally might have gained the impression that the arrow insert was permissible. There also were reports that numerous straight republican ballots had been discarded. A recount would add these to Brookhart's total.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 7—After a conference lasting into the early morning hours, the employees of the St. Louis Electric Terminal Railway decided not to call a strike which had been threatened late last night, when their demand for an increase of wages had been rejected. Universal Draft Law Plan of Legion

ALL CITIZENS ON PAR IN WAR TIME ITS AIM

Back Coolidge's Plea for Celebration of Armistice Day.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, Nov. 7.—President Coolidge today made public a letter from James A. Drain, national commander of the American Legion, who assured him that "your sentiments" as to Armistice Day, are the sentiments of the Legion.

Mr. Drain's letter was in reply to a communication from the President who suggested that the Legion emphasize the need of peace in its Armistice Day celebration.

"The Legion desires peace" its commander wrote, and "strives for peace," as its opportunities for acquainting itself with "the alternative of peace, have been exceptional."

Mr. Drain said the Legion is doing what it can to advance the day when armaments may be reduced and hopes that its labors may help to hasten the time when a convention of the powers will be called to reduce all military establishments. But until that day comes the Legion will insist that the United States take steps of its own to put war and the prospect of war more remote.

Universal Draft Bill

"To this end," he continued, "the Legion has long advocated and will press for enactment at the coming session of congress, of what is popularly known as the universal draft bill which would place on all citizens an equal obligation in war by utilization through the government of man power, factory power to produce and money power to finance. This is a peace measure because it places the burden of war equally upon all citizens."

"Until an international concord is attained for the reduction of armaments and the adjudication of controversies on the principles of justice, the United States must maintain a navy equal to any in the world, a small but competent army capable of quick expansion, adequate air forces, a national guard and adequate reserve forces for air, land and sea duty. Furthermore, industry must be kept constantly informed and prepared in peace time for its emergency obligations."

"The Legion will emphasize on Armistice Day the substance of your words that humanity has more reason for unity than for discord."

Reports from Tompkinsville told of extensive damage in the Cumberland valley in Monroe and Cumberland counties and in Lincoln county the Stamford fire department had gone to the hill section to assist volunteer fire fighters.

ILLINOIS SHIPPERS TO

DISCUSS FREIGHT RATES

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Whipped to menaces by railroad officials and representatives of twenty railroad brotherhoods and affiliated organizations will meet here tomorrow morning "to discuss the Howell-Barkeley bill and decide on future course of action." The bill seeks to abolish the railroad labor board. It is the first bill on the calendar when congress reconvenes.

Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers who, on October 24, issued the call for the meeting, today said he had received acceptances from practically all of the 29 organizations. Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, wrote Mr. Stone he would send a representative.

The father of the child is said to have been denied the custody of the boy by the grandparents on several occasions. It is alleged that they have never objected to his calling at their home and visiting with the boy, but that they have stoutly refused parting with the child. The complainant's wife died some time ago and for a time he and the child lived with the grandparents. It is said, later, when he remarried and both he and his wife wanted the child, they were denied its custody, it is alleged, until the above proceedings were instituted today.

The bill seeks to abolish the railroad labor board. It is the first bill on the calendar when congress reconvenes.

While Mr. Coolidge has indicated he would press for tax reduction, many congressional leaders have expressed the opinion that it would be difficult to get through tax legislation at this short session with a congress which has just fought out its differences.

NEVER TROUBLE TROUBLE—

I used to hear a saying That had a deal of pith; It gave a cheerful spirit To face existence with Especially when matters seemed doomed to go askew. Twas "Never trouble trouble Till trouble troubles you."

Not woes at hand, those coming Are hardest to resist; We hear them stalk like giants, We hear them through a mist. But big things in the brewing Are small things in the brew: So never trouble trouble Till trouble troubles you.

For Luncheons.

Toasted cheese sandwiches are expected to serve at a luncheon where the main dish is of vegetable rather than meat.

Prevent Shrinkage.

All the waters in which blankets are washed and rinsed should be of the same temperature if you would prevent shrinkage.

The hall was beautifully decorated in the V. F. W. colors of blue and gold and the contrast to their emblem, which is lighted with red, white and blue lights, made a beautiful setting. The emblem was carved and donated to the Post by their Commander, I. M. Goodwin.

A two-course banquet, consisting of dumplings, mashed potatoes, creamed cauliflower, hearts of lettuce with French dressing, canned peaches, sponge cake, milk, coffee, whole wheat bread.

Of course the kiddies under school age will not have the cheese sauce over their poached eggs, but except for this omission they may use the menu suggested. The question of dumplings has been mentioned before. However, just as a reminder, dumplings are considered indigestible for junior tummies.

Cream of Parsnip Soup. Two or three parsnips, 2 cups milk, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, $\frac{1}{2}$ small onion, 1 teaspoon salt, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon pepper.

Wash and scrape parsnips and cook in boiling water until tender. Add salt to water the last fifteen minutes of cooking. Use as little water as possible to cook the vegetable and use the water in the soup. Rub parsnips through puree strainer. There should be from $\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 cups puree. Melt butter, add onion sliced and cook over a slow fire for five minutes. Stir in flour and slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Strain over parsnip puree and return the whole to the fire to make very hot. Season with salt and pepper and serve.

Creamed Spinach. One pound spinach, 2 hard boiled eggs, 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon pepper.

Wash spinach through several washers. If the spinach has much waste, more than a pound will be needed but 1 pound of fresh, clean spinach is enough. Put the well washed spinach in a tightly covered sauce pan and cook it in its own juice and the water clinging to the leaves for twenty minutes. Remove cover and cook as dry as possible. Season with salt and chop. Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Season with salt and pepper and add spinach and the chopped hard boiled whites of the eggs. Arrange triangles of hot buttered toast on a warm platter and pour over spinach mixture. Sprinkle with the yolks of the eggs forced through a ricer. A dash of paprika over the yolks is attractive.

Pork Roast of Beef. One and one-half pounds lean beef, 1 onion, 1 small carrot, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 2 teaspoons salt, 2 cups canned tomatoes, 2 cups boiling water.

Wipe meat and cut in $\frac{1}{4}$ inch cubes. Sear meat on all sides. Put meat, onion sliced, carrot sliced, boiling water and tomatoes into a casserole and cook in a slow oven for three hours. Add salt the last hour of cooking.

The liquor can be thickened with 2 tablespoons flour rubbed into 2 tablespoons butter if dumplings are not made.

PROSPERITY AHEAD.

The Republican ticket has triumphed in state and nation. Coolidge and Dawes have kept the country and have been given a strongly Republican house and senate to insure the carrying out of Republican policies. This means prosperity for Americans of all classes. It means humming factories and dinner-pails and shoes for the kids, and gasoline for the flivver and all the other things that go to make life comfortable and happy.

And in Illinois the people have also spoken, just as we said they would the other day, and in no uncertain terms have they rejected the mud-slinging, character-attacking, false and malicious type of campaigners who opposed the election of Governor Len Small. Apparently the Republican organizations over Illinois, of which Lee county's was typical, suffered in no manner because of their decision to carry on their usual clean and dignified campaign. The people are sick of the other sort of politics. So much for that. It's over now and should be forgotten.

Governor Small is kept in the executive's chair at Springfield and he has been given a good working majority in both branches of the legislature to carry out his program. We believe the next four years will see some splendid advancement in the welfare of Illinois at the hands of Governor Small. We know he has the welfare of this state and nation at heart. He has already done great things for Illinois in spite of relentless prosecution and hampered with a hostile element in the legislature. We hope he may have one term now that will be free of the spiteful attacks and he will be allowed to demonstrate to the fullest his ability to do big things for Illinois.

CONGRATULATIONS FOR COMMITTEE.

The Telegraph feels like congratulating the Lee County Republican Central Committee and particularly County Chairman Harry Warner, for the splendid service rendered the party, and incidentally the community and the nation at large, during the campaign just closed.

Lee county was listed as one of the worst in Illinois so far as the state ticket was concerned. Republicans in this county were almost equally divided upon the governorship in the spring primary and in the city of Dixon Governor Small carried by only a small majority at that time. The fight was a bitter one and left many sore spots.

After the primary Chairman Harry Warner was re-elected by a harmonious agreement and under his leadership the county committee, with a few negligible exceptions, went into battle and did yeoman service for the party and the entire Republican ticket.

The campaign was carried through by the Republican committee with dignity and decency and with a marked absence of bitterness or mud-throwing. It was an intensive canvass, with numerous meetings all over the county in which Chairman Warner took the brunt of the assault upon the state ticket with many fine appeals for party unity and straight Republican ballots. In the face of uncalled-for, unfair and false abuse and personalities which the opposition injected into the contest and in a county where the fight against Governor Small was probably more intense than almost any in the state, the entire state ticket went over to victory with a sweep that carried all but ten precincts in the county.

The Telegraph does not know of anyone in Lee county who could have performed this accomplishment as well as did Chairman Warner and we believe that Lee County Republicans owe him a debt of gratitude for his good work in this and many previous campaigns.

CUT-AND-DRIED.

The village band is a vanishing institution, along with the individual amateur musician. Radio and phonograph have canned music.

It's an age of cans—canned food, canned music... and even canned thought. The increasing tendency toward specialization gets the average person in such a rut that he is too tired after work to do much thinking for himself. The professional "thinker" is among our generation. His thoughts, alas! are usually futile. Specialization destroys the individual mentality.

AIRPLANE.

Americans soon will be building their own airplanes at home, the same as they assemble radio sets, an aviation expert predicts. He says that in 1925 it will be possible to have a safe, practical, home-made flying flivver for an outlay of $500.

This is a fascinating prospect, even though many will believe that life insurance salesmen are backing the buy-a-plane movement.

CHEAPER.

Henry Ford is quoted as saying that small airplanes can be built cheaper than Ford autos. It would depend on the size of the market—quantity production.

One advantage of using flying machines instead of motorcars is that we would get away from the terrific tax burden of road building.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Clive Roberts Barton

NO. 17—WHAT THE KING'S COOK DID IN THE SKY.

So he opened the little brown door.

The cook of the King of Yum Yum Land stopped being frightened when the magic dust-pan ran off with him to the sky, and he began to look at the sky. The air went out of the bread dough like a punctured balloon, and the dough settled back in its pan on the table as though it had never had a thought of leaving. Except for a little flour dust on the ceiling, and a patch on the stove, and a smudge on the door, the kitchen was as clean as apple pie, for Mrs. John was a good housekeeper.

"Doughnuts and gingerbread!" cried the cook. "If queer things keep on happening I'll begin to think I have wheels in my head. I hardly know whether to believe in my good luck or not. A magic fork to provide food and a fine house to live in, in my old age. I'll just go inside."

So he opened the little brown door and stepped off the magic dust-pan and went in.

Instantly the magic dust-pan started to fall toward the earth. It dropped down like a stone.

But it never reached the ground. Nancy and Nick and Daddy Gander were still floating around in the air with no place to go. The peddler's floating powders were very strong and lasted a long time.

As the magic dust-pan passed Daddy Gander, the ring in the handle caught in button to the old gentleman's green coat and hung there.

"Great growing broom-corns!" cried Daddy, grabbing it with both hands. "If it isn't my dearly beloved dust-pan! Look here, Twins. We're saved."

But the cook couldn't make it out until he was up close.

"Why is it bread dough, as sure as you're born?" he declared. "Nice sweet, light bread dough! I wonder how it got here and whose it is."

He gave a little jab with the magic fork at the great bulgy piece that war-

New Jersey and Nebraska, was brought forward.

Friends Tell Intimate Stories of Illinois Banker, Soldier.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—(By the Associated Press)—Charles G. Dawes on next March 4 will assume an office which he did not seek and which if offered him six months ago he would have declined.

This statement was made today by some of those closest to the vice president-elect and by those who know the inside story of how the banker, soldier, businessman, philanthropist and economist has come to the place where after next March 4 he will be second only to the presidency.

This statement was made today by some of those closest to the vice president-elect and by those who know the inside story of how the banker, soldier, businessman, philanthropist and economist has come to the place where after next March 4 he will be second only to the presidency.

The vice presidency doesn't offer much in the way of a fight and that is why that office, his friends assert, did not and does not appeal directly to Mr. Dawes as an official position. If the four years succeeding next March 4 produce some sort of fight involving the vice presidency, Mr. Dawes' friends declare he will like it.

Those close to him declare it was this opposition that caused him to consent to use of his name and add that the prospect of a fight made him want the nomination.

Mr. Dawes began arranging his affairs so as to spend the rest of his life as a private citizen, devoting his time to business interests.

Then the republican national convention came along and got itself into a snarl over the selection of a running mate for President Coolidge. Mr. Dawes was in Ohio attending a reunion of his college class and little interested in the events at Cleveland.

The convention nominated former Governor Lowden of Illinois. Mr. Dawes, already mentioned and before the convention with the support of his friends, was indifferent.

Students in high schools and secondary schools of the state are eligible for the main contest. The two best essays will be entered in the national contest in which six four-year scholarships at Yale of Vassar are offered as prizes. In addition to this contest, any student in a college or university in Illinois may enter a national contest in which there will be six prizes of $1000 each for essays on the same subjects.

ILLINOIS-CHICAGO GAME IS FEATURE BATTLE TOMORROW

Stagg Bans "Rough Stuff" in Game Against Red Grange & Co.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Nov. 7.—Six western conference football teams are ready to take the field tomorrow in games that are virtually the tri-nials in the scramble for the Big Ten crown. Four others finish grooming today for non-conference contests, of which the feature is the Notre Dame-Wisconsin meeting at Madison.

Illinois is prepared to undergo a test in Chicago, with its nearest competitor. The Maroons have been pointing to the game since the season opened and for weeks Coach Stagg has drilled his line into a stiff defensive wall and an offense calculated to break through and stop "Red" Grange. Everything in the veteran mentor's repertoire of attack and defense plays has been drawn upon to perfect the Maroon machine.

Illini Are Determined

Coach Zuppke of Illinois has a determined squad, in good shape with the exception of McIlwain, main cog in interference for Grange, who will play with an injured hand, and Harry Hall, quarterback, who may not appear in the lineup. Hall's place may be taken by Gallivan who made a good showing against Iowa last week.

The Maroons have been instructed to abstain from any rough work in the game. Coach Stagg announced, as a result of stories his players were out to "get" Grange. "We do not want to win if we have to cripple anybody to do it," Stagg said.

Ohio Tackles Indiana

Ohio, third in the conference standing, had finished its arrangements for Indiana.

Michigan's preparation for Northwestern at Ann Arbor had as its objective the stopping of Ralph Baker, main stem of the Purple squad.

Notre Dame halted today in Beloit for practice before proceeding to Madison and the Badger battlefield tomorrow.

Reserves were prepared to figure largely in the Minnesota-Ames contest at Minneapolis and the Iowa-Butler engagement at Iowa City. Indiana State football honors were involved in the meeting of Purdue and DePauw at La Fayette.

School teachers will enjoy looking over our selection of Christmas and Greeting Cards.

WHEATON STAR END MISSING THREE WEEKS

Dissapointed in Love, Thought to Be Influence.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, Nov. 7.—DuPage County authorities have been asked to search for Danny Place, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Place of Bloomingdale, Pa., and star end of the Wheaton College football team, who disappeared from the campus of the suburban school near here, three weeks ago.

The college faculty, assisting in the search, voted to keep the disappearance a secret because of wrong impressions of the institution that might result, J. A. Weaver, treasurer, said.

Friends of Place said he had been despondent since last summer when he learned that Esther Thomas, who attended Wheaton College Academy last year and to whom he had been engaged for several years, had married William Ilgenfritz, McKeepsport, Pa. Mrs. Ilgenfritz has written friends in the college that she has not seen him since she told him of her marriage.

According to college authorities four weeks ago the Ilgenfritz automobile was damaged by a dynamite cap and the husband of the former fiancee narrowly escaped death.

Place was graduated two years ago from a missionary training school at Nyack, N. Y., and was completing a theological course at Wheaton, authorities said.

Last Curtain on British Labor Government Today

London, Nov. 7.—(By The Associated Press)—King George today received the ministers of the retiring labor government who handed over their seals of office at a brief ceremony which attracted little public attention.

The crowd in the vicinity of Buckingham Palace displayed more interest in the changing of the bright uniformed guards than the arrival and departure of the fallen cabinet ministers.

Later the king held a council with Premier Stanley Baldwin and the members of his cabinet at which the custom of kissing the sovereign's hand was carried out.

Many Dixon Fans to go to Big Games Tomorrow

About 300 football fans from Dixon will be absent from this city Saturday attending the big college games which will be played at Madison, Wis., and Chicago. Several of the fans will motor to Madison to witness the annual clash between Coach Knute Rockne's Notre Dame squad, who have not been defeated this season, and the University of Wisconsin eleven.

The majority of fans will take advantage of the head line attraction at Chicago tomorrow when they will have the best opportunity of the season to see Harold "Red" Grange with the Illinois university team pitted against Chicago in their annual tilt. Several motor parties have been organized and will depart early in the morning for both points.

Mandell vs. Bernstein in First Elimination Fight

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, Nov. 7.—Sammy Mandell, of Rockford, meets Jack Bernstein of Madison Square Garden tonight in a 12 round contest expected to be the first step in providing an opponent for lightweight champion, Benny Leonard, in a title bout during the indoor season.

The winner of the battle will meet the victor of a S. D. Terris-Luis Vicentini fight arranged for later in the month. The ultimate victor among the four contenders will then be matched with Leonard. Leonard's agreement with Tex Rickard stipulates that he be allowed to enter the ring at catch weights during the indoor season.

Wheaton Names Athletic Field for Harold Grange

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 7.—The two-year-old champion of the 1924 racing season will be crowned today at Pimlico with the running of the Pimlico futurity, $40,000 added, over the mile route.

Seventeen thoroughbreds have accepted the challenge in what is considered probably the most open race in the history of the event. Stimulus, owned by Marshall Field, which was won six of his last seven starts; two colts by Man o' War—American Flag and By Hissell; H. P. Whitney's Mother Goose, and Single Foot, are all considered contenders.

Hunters Expect Wild Fowls to Appear Soon

Wild ducks and geese are expected to pass over this section in their migration southward in a short time. Cold weather is being experienced throughout the Canadian Rockies, the temperature dropping as low as eight below zero at base point, and this will send the wild fowl winging southward. Hunters in this section should be in the midst of the open season soon.

Poor Plow Land Showed Greatest Depreciation

Urbana, Nov. 7.—The depreciation of poor plow land in Illinois shown last March was 9.8 per cent below the 1916-1919 base, good plow land was 6.1 per cent under, or from a third to 2.4 per cent lower and all plow land a ninth as large as the rates generally discussed when 1920 was used as a base, according to Dr. Charles L. Stewart, associate professor of economics at the University of Illinois.

The number of months a farm land had to work to earn an amount equaling the valuation of an average acre was higher in Illinois in 1910 than in 1920 or in any census year since the close of the Civil War, Prof. Stewart said. About three and a third months' wages were so required in 1910. During the last 3 years the land wages ratio was highest in 1921 (32 months) and lowest in 1924 (22 months).

"The average acre of Illinois land in 1920 was worth as much as the corn grown on 9.2 acres of corn land," he continued. "The land-corn ratios for the five preceding census years, extending from 1910 back to 1870 were as follows: 7.3 acres, 4.6 acres, 3.7 acres, 3.3 acres, and 2.6 acres. In 1921 the land-corn ratio was 12.1 acres, over twice as high as in 1923, when it was 5.2 acres. The ratio for 1924 will probably be higher than that of 1923."

When land is cheap in terms of product and in terms of wages, the farm hands and tenants, particularly those working on shares, may find increased incentive to save for an undertake farm purchase. Twelve percent of the owner farmers in Illinois in 1920 had previously been farm hands but tenants, 28 per cent had been tenants but not farm hands, and 29 per cent had served in both capacities, so that all but 31 per cent of the farming owners had come up from the ranks. In the years in which those owner farmers were preparing for farm purchase land was not so cheap in terms of rental share and wages as in the last year or two."

ALUMINUM, KING OF METALS, MADE DIRIGIBLES SAFE

Helps in Cooking and in Flying; Found in Some Jewels.

Washington, D. C.—Aluminum has had wide publicity from The Shenandoah's flight; aluminum which makes possible the performances of both the Shenandoah and The ZR-3 seems scarcely to have its just due.

"Aluminum is the foundation of duralumin, the metal bones of modern lighter-than-air sky cruisers," says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society from its headquarters at Washington, D. C. "The metal usually hides the light of its powers, such as the blowing up of Vandy Ridge, under bushels of other names and it is a 'rookie' among the old-time major league metals."

"Iron, copper, tin, zinc and lead did service to man earlier than the birth of Christ. Aluminum will be only 100 years old in 1927. Seventy years ago aluminum sold for $7 an ounce and was advertised as 'silver from clay.' Even the 7,300 tons produced in 1900 must be multiplied 25 times to approach last year's total, while the 'silver' of the skies now sells for two cents an ounce."

Most Prolific of Metals

"To play a joke on a jeweler ask him for 'some nice stones in aluminum' about two or three carats. Probably he will look puzzled but if he knows the chemistry of his trade he will lay before you gems fit for a king's crown. The ruby, sapphire, garnet and turquoise have a normal base of aluminum. Greater quantities of it are found than any other true metal; only half as much of its nearest rival, iron, occurs in igneous rocks, which include all rocks hardened out of the original boiling mass of which the earth once was composed."

"An element of such frequency is not confined to one country or continent. It is a partner in nearly all shades and clays, the latter's necessity of man from civilization's dawn. The evening potatos which were boiled in an aluminum pan are placed before the family on chin plates partly aluminum. Salts of aluminum play a part in the abrasive father uses to sharpen the carving knife, the dyes in his suit, the tanning of his shoes and even his evening newspapers. Kaolin, the foundation of chinaware, has a large content of aluminum and the man who develops a method of getting it out cheaper than pulling it away from the mineral now used, bauxite, will receive honors and riches."

"Membership in the Red Cross," declares Judge Payne, "is a privilege within the reach of everyone. The need for service grows more insistent each year. To keep pace with the demands which come from every section of our country we must have the people's loyal support. Our capacity for service in the year to come will be limited only by the extent to which we receive support for our work in the coming Roll Call."

The room which is particularly suited for the use of a machine shop has undergone many changes and provides a model location for the several large machines which are used in the machine shop. A rapid increase in business made it necessary for Mr. Wirth to secure a more commodious location.

ern France, particularly among the hills back from the Riviera coast, but mineable quantities of bauxite, which in an earthy, soft, weathered mineral are found in Antrim County, Ireland, in many parts of Germany, in British and French Guiana, and in India and Italy. More discoveries are being reported from time to time. In the United States important workings are near Little Rock, Arkansas. Steam shovels also scoop it up in northern Georgia and Alabama.

"American aluminum companies have bought control of large bauxite deposits in British and French Guiana.

Discovered by Minister's Son

"To Charles M. Hall, whose rise to wealth and fortune reads like Alger romance, the housewife owes credit for her shining pots and pans, Hall, a Congregational minister's son, one day discovered an old chemistry textbook without cover or title page in his father's reading room; it decided his life ambition. At the age of 22, while attending Oberlin College in Ohio he invented the electrolysis process called 'electric loosening.' Aluminum in combination with oxygen, to which it is attracted like a magnet. Hall subjected under certain conditions to a powerful electric current and split the particles to form pure aluminum.

"Duralumin's production is a trade secret. Aluminum is its chief content and there is also copper. It is so light that a girder 18 feet long can be balanced on one's little finger, but so strong that its ends are supported by blocks it will support eight men.

Why Metal Wins Friends

"The qualities of aluminum win it more friends constantly. Weight for weight it offers twice as smooth a road for transporting electricity as copper. For its virtue of radiating heat more rapidly than iron or most other metals, and for its lightness, automobile makers welcome it. Because it absorbs heat quickly, is light and does not rust, it is used for utensils. On western alkali plains, however, it turns black and comes off in flakes."

"Under certain circumstances aluminum has a violent affection for oxygen. This quality workers employ in making molten metal on the spot. When you see a hooded man working in a brilliant light on the street-car track he is employing the thermite process. A mixture of aluminum powder and iron oxide (rust) is ignited with magnesium. In a violent effort the aluminum robs the iron of oxide; the iron liquifies in the terrible temperature attained, 6,000 degrees Fahrenheit, within 30 seconds and welds the rails. This temperature approaches the heat of the steel carrying oxy-acetylene blowtorch, the highest temperature common to industry."

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitagraph picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS.

The common gossip in Tortuga which pronounced Mdile d'Orgeron the Captain's future wife. He passed in the doorway to impart a piece of information.

"Maybe it'll comfort you to know that the Captain has altered our course for your benefit. It's his intent to put you both ashore on the coast of Jamaica, as near Port Royal as we dare venture. We've gone about, and if this wind holds you'll soon be home again, mistress."

He went out, leaving his lordship pensive, those dreamy blue eyes of his intently studying Miss Bishop's face for all their dreaminess; his mind increasingly uneasy.

"He amazed me, this man," said he, in his slow, languid voice that never seemed to change its level. "That he should alter his course for us is in itself matter for wonder; but that he should take a risk on our behalf—that he should venture into Jamaican waters . . . it amazes me, as I have said."

"What is still more amazing is that he does not hold us to ransom," said she at last.

"It's what you deserve."

"Oh, and why, if you please?"

"For speaking to him as you did."

"I usually call things by their names."

"Do you? Stab me! I shouldn't be at it. It argues either extreme youth or extreme foolishness. So does the display of ingratitude."

A faint colour stirred in her cheeks. "It is news to me that ingratitude is a fault only to be found in the young and the foolish."

"You are probably aware that he delivered us," said he. "And living as you have done in these savage places of the world, you can hardly fail to be aware of what is known even in England: that this fellow Blood strictly confines himself to making war upon the Spaniards. So that to call him thief and pirate as you did was to overstate the case against him at a time when it would have been more prudent to have understated it."

"Prudence?" Her voice was scornful. "What have I to do with prudence?"

"Nothing—as I perceive. But, at least, study generosity. I tell you frankly, ma'am, that in Blood's piece I should never have been so nice. Sink me! To be sold into slavery! Uh!" His lordship shuddered. "And to a damned colonial planter!" He checked abruptly. "I beg your pardon, Miss Bishop. For the moment . . ."

"You were carried away by your heat in defence of this . . . sea robber." Miss Bishop's scorn was almost fierce.

His lordship stared at her again. Then he half-closed his large, pale eyes, and tilted his head a little. "I wonder why you hate him so," he said softly.

He saw the sudden scarlet flame upon her cheeks, the heavy frown that descended upon her brow. But there was no explosion.

"Hate him? Lord! What a thought! I don't regard the fellow at all."

"Then ye should, ma'am." His lordship spoke his thought frankly. "He's worth regarding. He'd be an acquisition to the King's navy. A great man, Miss Bishop. A man worth regarding."

Miss Bishop was moved to sarcasm.

"You should use your influence with my Lord Sunderland to have the King offer him a commission."

His lordship laughed softly. "Faith, it's done already. I have his commission in my pocket." And he increased her amazement by a brief exposition of the circumstances. In that amazement he left her, and went in quest of Blood.

He found the Captain pacing the quarter-deck. With the amiable familiarity he used, Lord Julian slipped an arm through one of the Captain's and fell into step beside him.

"What's this?" snapped Blood. "I desire, sir, that we be friends," said he saucily.

"That's mighty condescending of you!"

Lord Julian ignored the obvious sarcasm.

"It's an odd coincidence that we should have been brought together in this fashion, considering that I came out to the Indies especially to seek you." And he proceeded to explain himself and his mission.

"I'm your guest aboard this ship," said Captain Blood, "and I still have some notion of decent behavior left me from other days, thief and pirate though I may be. So I'll not be telling you what I think of you for daring to bring me this offer, or of my Lord Sunderland—since he's your kinsman—for having the impudence to send it.

But it does not surprise me at all that one who is a minister of James Stuart's should conceive that every man is to be seduced by bribes in betraying those who trust him.

"Who killed him?"

"Captain Blood killed him."

"Why?"

"They quarreled," he said shortly.

"Was it about a . . . a lady?" Miss Bishop relentlessly pursued him.

"You might put it that way."

"What was the lady's name?"

"Miss d'Orgeron. She was the daughter of the Governor of Tortuga. She had gone off with this fellow Levasseur, and . . . and Peter delivered her out of his dirty clutches. He was a black-hearted scoundrel, and deserved what Peter gave him."

"I see. And . . . yet Captain Blood has not married her?"

"Not yet," laughed Pitt, who knew the utter groundlessness of

PRESIDENT GIVING ATTENTION TO HIS OFFICIAL DUTIES

Business as Usual, His Motto; Begins Plans for Administration.

By Associated Press Licensed Wire

Washington, Nov. 7.—Assured of a working majority for the republican party in the house and possibly in the senate as well as his own election, President Coolidge went forward to day with plans for the short session of congress.

After the regular semi-weekly meeting of the cabinet, Mr. Coolidge had an engagement with Director Lord of the budget to go over the estimates for next year's appropriations for government departments.

The budget figures are nearing completion and will be among the principal items taken up for consideration by congress in December. What other proposals will be submitted by the president have not been determined, although farm relief is expected to be given especial consideration after the investigation of farming condition he expects to institute soon.

Washington, Nov. 6.—With evidence of his popular endorsement steadily increasing as election returns continued to come in, President Coolidge turned his thoughts today to plans for the next four years, including the setting up of his own administration and the framing of a legislative program to be presented to congress.

In the latter connection, interest at the White House centered today on results of the congressional contests. The present congress, though nominally in control of the republicans, has been dominated by the balance of power held by the LaFollette group in both branches. Because of this, it is expected, few measures except the usual appropriations bills and possibly farm relief legislation will be presented by the President to the final session of the 68th congress, which begins in December.

While Mr. Coolidge has declared for further tax reduction and "tax reform," it is the opinion of those close to Secretary Mellon of the treasury department and to the President, that such legislation will not be pressed by the administration at the short session. Nor will an extra session be called after March 4 for this purpose alone, unless clear working majorities in each branch of congress are assured and other emergency legislation is deemed necessary.

To Select His Cabinet

Meanwhile, Mr. Coolidge will be confronted with the problem of selecting a cabinet. It is thought likely several of the present members will retire, for personal reasons, to private life and it is understood also that he has in mind some changes.

No outstanding changes however, are looked for prior to inauguration.

As on yesterday, it was "business as usual" today at the White House.

Mr. Coolidge appeared early at the executive offices giving his attention to government affairs.

Immediate problems facing him are selection of the proposed agricultural commission to investigate farming conditions, appointment of a Secretary of Agriculture to succeed the late Henry C. Wallace, and a decision on the report of the tariff commission on the sugar duty.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germs.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles.

Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

Readin' Maller

WHAT do you read, when you read, young man? What is it that takes your eye? What sort of script do you daily scan; what sort of books do you buy?

Newspapers, surely, for everyone does, so's to know what's the news of the day. Scareheads and scandal make readin' folks buzz ere they're throwin' the paper away.

Car ads that scream from the street car sides; billboards that fair seem to yell. A man always sees 'em whenever he rides and he reads what they're amin' to tell.

Latest of novels that come from the shop where bookworms and other folks drift. Good selling titles that make a man stop. Tales that give tiredness a lift.

Constantly readin'. We're all at the game, and from this unto that we will roam. The best readin' matter? Allow me to name, the letters you get from back home.

MARKERS WILL POINT ROUTE LINCOLN TOOKCircuit Rider of Old Days Traveled By "Crow Lines."

Springfield— Markers which show the route followed by Abraham Lincoln and other lawyers and judges, in traveling the Eighth Judicial circuit in 1847, will have been completed through the seventeen of the eighteen counties covered, when the Lincoln Circuit Marking association meets in Danville, Nov. 12, Mrs. Jessie Palmer Weber, the secretary announced here today.

"Crow Line roads" were the ones followed by circuit riders, Mrs. Weber said, and none of them coincide with the hard roads of today.

"Buffaloes were Illinois' first road makers," Mrs. Weber explained. "They cut very direct routes to salt licks and places for water. Then the pioneers followed, sometimes utilizing the buffaloes and pioneers went by direct routes, as the crow flies. Then the law was passed requiring section line roads.

"Time has regulated most of these roads to comparative disuse, and some of them are partly enclosed with pasture land.

"Whenever practicable the association has marked the exact spot the trail passed from one county to another, but where it is remote from a traveled road, we placed the marker as near as possible on the road, bearing a notice showing how far away the actual trail was. We have placed markers at each county seat, and guide posts on county lines.

"Counties included in the circuit riding were Sangamon, Tazewell, Woodford, McLean, DeWitt, Logan, Piatt, Champaign, Vermilion, Edgar, Coles, Shelby, Moultrie, Menard, Christian and Mason, which we intend shall all have been marked by the time of our meeting Nov. 12. The other county is Livingston."

Judge Franklin H. Boggs of Urbana is president of the association, and Miss Lottie E. Jones of Danville, is chairman of the executive committee. Honorary presidents include former Governor Joseph W. Fifer of Bloomington, Joseph G. Cannon of Danville, former Governor Frank O. Lowden and Mrs. Charles E. Herrick of Chicago, state regent of the D. A. R.

Andrew Russel of Jacksonville is the treasurer. Members of the executive committee include D. O. E. Schmidt, Chicago; L. J. Freese, Emilia; Mrs. E. M. Waldo, Urbana, and Judge Lawrence B. Stilson of Lip-coln.

The TangleLETTER FROM SYDNEY CARTON TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT

Dear Jack: You must have thought it very strange that I have now in some way acknowledged the receipt of your two last letters or the wire announcing the death of Mr. Hamilton. I have been up at Gordon Phillips' hunting lodge in the Adirondacks for the last two weeks and you know how far that is away from the outside world.

I told my secretary the morning I left to wire you where I had gone in the rush she forgot it. You see, my secretary is not as perfect as Mrs. Atherton.

I arrived home this morning and found your long letters and wire. You know, old men, if I had been home I would have been with you through all this trying time, for outside of the sincere admiration and regard I have always had for Mr. Hamilton, my friendship for you and Leslie would have made me feel that I must do something to lighten your load.

very carefully. It seems to me that you have the great opportunity as well as the great responsibility of your life. Mr. Hamilton has placed a huge load on your shoulders and I am really sorry for you, man, instead of glad, because this magnificent business which he has left in your care will claim the best years of your life.

The next ten years at least all your waking hours and probably some that should be given to sleep will be filled with work of brain and hands so arduous that you will only be a galley slave tied to the oars of the great God—Money. I am almost sure that you will be a success in this business, although you say that you know little about it.

I wish I were as sure you were going to be happy. I wish I were as sure that you were going to make Leslie happy. It will take a strong man, Jack, to keep the proper balance between your soul and your overweening ambition to become a financial power. It will take a stout heart to keep you from growing more self-contained and selfish, from thinking that you are of greater importance in your business than you are in your home. God grant that you may be that strong man.

Yes, I know that I am always a critic and a croaker and that is why I will never be a rich man. Some way I always have to sit on the sidelines and analyze the plays that are made in the game of life by my friends, even though I cannot play the game as well as they do.

The whole world, Jack, that is your little world, when it hears that you are going to take over this great business, will consider you the luckiest man in all the world but I knew a long time ago when you married Leslie Hamilton that this was true. I can't understand why it is that you yourself have not come to this conclusion long ago.

But for all that I confess that I would be rather frightened if I were called to step into the shoes of a man such as Joseph Graves Hamilton.

O. H. MARTIN & CO.
The Store of Quality

Even a "Mere Man" Would Call These Coats Stunning.

Any man would know the new Winter Coats on display here were stunning, that they had what a man would call "class" and they would recommend that you buy without any hesitation.

But it would take a woman to know "why" the Coats are so good looking. They would realize that the silhouette was absolutely correct; that the lines were slenderizing and that the Coats were so well made that they had all the features of a made-to-order garment.

Featuring Wooltex and Redfern Garments

Our assortment of stylish Winter Coats shows all the new shades, with fur or without, in all sizes up to 47 at prices ranging from $19.50 up to $85.00.

We are always glad to show you.
